PERSONAL DRIVER'S LICENSES

A home country license is valid in Ohio as long as it's unexpired and from one of the countries covered by the United Nations Convention on Road Traffic, but usually only for up to your first six months in the U.S. (The idea is that if you're a tourist you can just come here on vacation and drive with your home country license - but most tourists cannot legally stay longer than six months). Whether you will actually get a ticket if you've been driving for years on an expired home-country license is a question of probability.

The Ohio BVM Knowledge Test "is available in the following languages in both text, and audio: Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Haitian Creole, Japanese, Russian, Somali, and Spanish. In text, and video: American Sign Language."

"If testing in another language is needed, you may schedule a proctored test with your interpreter by visiting a driver exam station. Customers must be able to understand directions and read traffic signs printed in English." (www.bmv.ohio.gov)

We recommend going to the Huber BMV location if you need to get your driver's license. In our experience, they have been the most welcoming!
